HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H R Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens with a bolt or screw and is thereby easily and speedily separated It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in a [illegible] start and is convenient safe and secure

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy [illegible] or vehicle now in use [illegible] We have come to the conclusion to use this new [illegible] ourselves and recommend its use to all [illegible] We [illegible] for it the superiority of the Brewster Patent heretofore [illegible] the [illegible]

Postal Telegraph

WASHINGTON Feb 2[illegible] At a special session of the Senate Postal Committee yesterday morning [illegible] continued his argument against the Hubbard scheme In the course of his remarks [illegible] said competing lines are now in operation in a majority of the States all of which are being extended If their business was not interfered with by Congress it was probable that within a short time a year or two at the furthest competition would exist all over the country Competition really promoted the interests of shareholders but so long as the latter are ready to invest capital in such enterprises, the public will certainly not complain and the Government has no occasion to interfere He called attention to the fact that the House Committee after giving two years consideration to the subject unanimously ordered an adverse report against the Hubbard and other schemes He concluded by saying If after due consideration with a full understanding of the subject it is decided to authorize a postal telegraph service, the inducement would be so strong that he should almost be tempted to urge the passage of a bill that his company might avail itself of the provisions to get control of its organization

Hubbard in reply contended that in Europe under control of the Government four miles of wire cost no more than one of the Western Union that the average rates abroad are 45 cents per message against 71 cents in this country that the telegraph is more used in Europe than here that the adoption of the postal system will reduce the average rates 50 per cent and that under the postal system in Europe business has increased a hundred per cent while the expenses have increased but twenty five He believes a great saving of expense will also be made by uniting the telegraph with the postoffice without corresponding expense or increase of expense in that department

GENERAL BUTLER FOR GOVERNOR In Boston letters to papers outside of the State as well as in Boston political circles, are frequent suggestions just now that General Butler is thinking of supplanting his friend Dr Loring and assuming the next Republican nomination for Governor of Massachusetts He did think pretty strongly, as is well known of contesting the United States Senatorship with General Wilson but a direct contest on that point does not look very promising and he is inclined to change the issue Possibly he has a thought of taking both places in order and reaching the Senatorial chair from the gubernatorial office This thing is very often done in the West and South, and though not according to the Massachusetts way of doing things that, perhaps, is only another reason for inviting the audacious Essex Congressman to attempt it.

Presuming however, that he seeks only and legitimately the Governorship he probably does so with the understanding that Senator Wilson and his friends shall support him for it in the view of his withdrawing from the contest for his place Dr Loring is to be snuffed out without so much as by your leave, though he may possibly be given the chance to run for Congressman in place of Butler—if he can get it

A serious attempt of this sort to make General Butler Governor of Massachusetts would do a good deal more than the liquor question even, to break up political parties in this State There would certainly be a very large section of Republicans who would refuse to support him but we have no doubt that he could rely upon perhaps an equally large section of Democrats to make up the deficiency The Democratic leaders that is those who have been mainly recruited from the old Whig party would be as unrelenting against him as anybody perhaps even more so but with the rank and file with the Irish and the shoemakers and those in the labor organizations generally he would stand pretty strong and get a very large proportion of their votes —Springfield (Mass) Republican

J HORNER NOT A MYTH —Little Jack Horner must be accepted as one of the real heroes of the Christmas season Although his name has been familiarized through the medium of a nursery song yet as in so many other similar jingles, there was a meaning in the apparent nonsense For Jack Horner was a real person although there are two or three versions of his story One version is that the Abbot of Glastonbury had offended Henry VIII by building his kitchen so substantially that the destroyers of monasteries were unable to throw it down. In a rage, the king sent for the abbot who hoping to appease the monarch, sent to him his steward, John Horner with a wondrous pie the interior of which was composed of the title-deeds of twelve manors But as John Horner sat in the corner of the wagon that carried him to the king he was induced by curiosity to lift up the crust and to abstact a title-deed from the dish which deed on his safe and successful trip home he showed to the abbot and told him that he had been given it by the king for a reward The deed proved to be that for the manor of Wells The second version of the story changes the scene to Wells and the steward to Colonel Horner and it makes the king hang the abbot The third version changes Wells to Mells and the colonel to a country lad but in all three versions of the story the leading incident is preserved and also the name of the hero It may be accepted as a postscript of this note that Jack Horner s modern representative and descendant is also a Jack Horner viz the Rev John Stewart Hippesley Horner M A of Mells Park Somersetshire who is Prebendary of Wells and Rector of Mells It appears from The Clergy List of 1869 that this Reverend J Horner is his own patron of two other livings beside that of Mells near Frome which is valued at £690 per annum So that it may be said that he has pulled out a plum from the ecclesiastical pie [illegible]

There is in India a sort of reformed Brahminism which differs widely from the orthodox faith of the country It is to this new sect that the two Hindus who were lately in this country and in Boston belong The new faith is a spiritualized form of the old and approaches very near to the pure theism This doctrine is said to have a great attraction for the younger and better educated Hindus and the growth of the sect has alarmed several classes in the community The missionaries find that the reformed faith is more popular than that which they are carrying to the heathen and they accuse the new sect of worshipping the head of it whose name is Babu Keshab Chunder Sen The marriage ceremony having been remodelled by the Brahmists as they are called in the interest of morality and to do away with the idolatry [illegible] prevalent in the ancient form the law [illegible] holds that the change is technically fatal to the marriages and the orthodox Hindus are strenuously opposed to the proposition of the Indian government to allow the Brahmists to go through a form of civil marriage Under these circumstances Baboo [illegible] the head of the sect above mentioned is on his way to England to lay the case before the home government and to [illegible] the necessary changes in the law He is spoken of as an intelligent and accomplished man [illegible] and is a speaker of very pure English

The so called Democratic papers have been laboring to create the impression that E M Stanton committed suicide from remorse of conscience What a silly set Haven't they been declaring the last six years that Stanton was a brute and everything that was mean and without a conscience? It seems to us that these same fellows are now impeaching their own witnesses and proving themselves falsifiers

British Columbia and Her Prospects

[illegible]

It [illegible] to [illegible] how the decision [illegible] brought two parties in [illegible] converse ways It is true the same objects [illegible] immediate relief to the community in general I further intimated that the designs of both parties would be materially affected by the developments made at Peace River during the ensuing summer If those developments are satisfactory then as a matter of [illegible] Confederation with Canada will [illegible] the course If unsatisfactory then it is impossible to tell to what extent the doctrine of annexation with America will be adopted or the degree of power it will have over all classes in the community

To show therefore the precise prospect of these political parties I have simply to show upon what grounds our hopes of rich general diggings being opened on Peace River during the next season are based

In the first place you must understand that the existence of gold in paying quantities over a large portion of that extensive district, is not a matter of recent discovery As far back as 1861 the existence of gold at Omineca was proved beyond doubt From that time up to last year, there has been no lengthened period without our receiving in one way or the other, and through sources as varied as reliable confirmatory reports of the truth of the original statements Different expeditions were organized in the meantime, by different parties all of which, so far as the discovery of gold in quantity went, were successful The details of those expeditions, with their pecuniary results are to be given in full, I find, in the next Weekly Colonist which you will receive by this mail, and as a large number will be sent over to Portland, it relieves me of the necessity of writing them up as your people will thus be enabled to learn the whole particulars I find the Colonist people are far better posted than I am on the matter and I can safely recommend the perusal of the History of the Peace River Mines appearing in the Colonist during the last four or five days and which as already stated, is I am told, to be reprinted in the weekly to-morrow, for general distribution at home and abroad

Without reference to the final success of the mines upon the final triumph of the political issues which now in no small degree excite this people I am happy to be able to confirm the particulars given by the writer in the Colonist to the fullest extent He follows, in fact, the precise course for them, I intended to follow for you, with this difference, that his information is both more exact and copious than mine I am told today, that a committee of mercantile gentlemen of this city have been intrusted with the publication in question, and that they hold themselves responsible for every statement made. In this case, you need not fear to use the extracts freely if you feel so disposed.

There can be no doubt from the information in the hands of these gentlemen, that we are on the eve of the greatest gold discovery ever made in this colony or perhaps upon the entire coast. Some of the expeditionists fitted out last summer at the public expense, now acknowledge that Omineca will prove, as far as rich [illegible] diggings go, a second California, with [illegible] thrown in Half of it will be enough to make us all prosperous again, and build the country up beyond future reverse Of course, Portland will come in for the lion's share of the trade—that is if she does not allow the San Francisco men to get ahead of her, for we are told they are already making arrangements in that grasping city to do so You must not forget that that once proud and tyrannical city is standing in great need of business just now

I have spoken with Mr John Adair, who individually and by family connexion is so well known in Oregon upon the subject, and, he says, the statements in the Colonist are correct, especially in connexion with the expedition fitted out last summer by public contributions to test the district thoroughly making $8,000 for six men in thirty five days' crude work, and that the gross amount of native silver in small pieces obtained during that period from the sluice boxes, was, as stated in the Colonist, over 55 ounces. I have also seen the two ounce piece of native silver now in Mr Adair's possession It is really a magnificent specimen He also assured me that its fineness runs very high Whether Omineca will prove a second California, with an Australia piled upon it time must prove but one thing is certain in my opinion that if the right sort of American prospectors go thither this summer, there is a big chance of a second Washoe being struck, irrespective of the placer diggings.

You may be assured, in conclusion, that the Peace river question has assumed gigantic proportions The result upon the final destiny of the colony cannot be duly estimated now, but whether she goes immediately to Canada, or finally to America if these mines realize our present anticipations she will be indeed, a prize worth winning.

Yours OBSERVER.

Secret History of the John Brown Raid on Harper's Ferry

[From the Detroit Post]

Brown and five of his men arrived in Detroit with fourteen slaves from Missouri in the summer of 1858 One of the slaves gave birth to a male child on the way The boy was named John Brown and now lives in Windsor By a strange coincidence Fred Douglass happened to be lecturing in the city the same evening that Brown arrived After the lecture the leaders of the insurrectionary movement got together in the house of Wm Webb on Congress street near Antoine street and arranged the plan for the raid on the South which broke out prematurely at Harper's Ferry Mr Webb was for years manager of the [illegible] ping tobacco factory on Jefferson avenue, and was a highly respected man He is now dead The leading colored people of Detroit and Chatham were all present at the meeting Douglass objected Brown's plan which originally was to make raids on single plantations until he had collected a force of about 1 000 slaves and then swoop down on the large towns and cities collecting force and material as he progressed Brown grew wrathy and asked Douglass if he was a coward and referred to his successor [illegible] as an augury of the Virginia [illegible] Douglass replied that he was not a coward and would give material aid to the plan if he did not approve of it or did not go himself George De Baptiste also disapproved of the plan but proposed a gunpowder plot by which some fifteen of the largest churches in the South would be blown up on a fixed Sunday Brown objected to that plan on the score of humanity asserting [illegible] a hundred lives would be lost [illegible] to shed blood unless it be absolutely necessary De Baptiste still urged radical measures declaring that Brown's plan would fail and perhaps cause the loss of a [illegible] the troubles likely to ensue [illegible] He cited in support of his position the fact that the Nat Turner insurrection [illegible] by which [illegible] lives were lost [illegible] causing the next Virginia [illegible] a bill for the gradual [illegible] which bill was lost by [illegible]

[illegible] prevailed and [illegible] and advice that he asked [illegible] was to furnish him [illegible] Chatham [illegible] The [illegible] at Harper's Ferry which [illegible] with so much surprise was perfectly well understood by the colored people of [illegible] They were anticipating the event [illegible] Foster had [illegible] Washington the plans of Brown [illegible] in consequence was obliged either to abandon his enterprise or precipitate matters even if at fearful odds He chose the latter alternative

The sequel is sufficiently well known These facts however have been kept with sworn secrecy until lately by the colored men of Detroit The particulars have never been published It may be [illegible] necessary to add that subsequent to the meeting at Webb's house on Congress street a meeting was held in Chatham at which the [illegible] was put to the plan Now that the negroes are equal [illegible] before the law they have no fear in letting their connection with the affair be known They glory in it.

Fugitives from Labor

From the Albany Democrat

eems that the Panama steamer which left rancisco on the 9th inst, had three hundred ty steerage passengers nearly all men wh eturning to seek employment and h mes in at Chinese labor was the sr urge that these men from California They were all re, but the great influx of cheap China la ad left them nothing to do and turning their to the East they quit California with male ns upon her 'cheap labor, and no very opinion of Republican statesmanship

owadays if a man is too lazy to work or hriftless and unenterprising to husband means advantageously and get on in the d like his more prosperous neighbors demagogue at once marks that man for own, tells him that he is a victim of Rad legislation, 'that his poverty is the fruit 'Radical statesmanship and that he will er get rich until that party is "hurled from er" And then the same promises are le to him of good fortune when the Deracy obtain rule that Jack Cade made to followers, and declared should be fulfilled en he should become King of England

Chinese labor is said to be driving men m California to the East. The assertion is surd. Labor at the East is much cheaper an in California or elsewhere on the Pacific ope; so that it is ridiculous to say that ople are going East to escape from "cheap bor." No man on the Pacific slope who ally wants to work need be long out of employment. In this new country, teeming th resources and offering all the elements wealth to those who have the energy to ke them, there are a thousand avenues of nployment yet unfilled. The intelligent, nterprising man, who is really seeking work and not seeking how to avoid it, is never, or very rarely, out of profitable employment. It is he drones who can find nothing to do. The lothful man always sees a lion in the way. They who go about whining that there is nothing in this country that a man can do, and that every sort of business is "overdone," will never do anything useful anywhere. They who have gone from the Pacific slope back to the East because they could not find employment here will not find it there, nor anywhere else. It will make no difference where they go; they will always be alleging the same dismal [illegible], and instead of throwing off [illegible] and laying hold with a will of what work offers, they will continue to spend their time in maundering about the evils of "Radical legislation" and denouncing the Government which, as a Democratic paper expresses it, "does no better by them."

The savings and loan societies of San Francisco have accumulated the enormous sum of $28,000,000 in gold, and are constantly increasing it. Would it seem from this that there is no chance for a laboring man to make money there? True, the present is a season of depression, but it is shared by all [illegible] alike. It will be but temporary, and business enterprise on the Pacific slope will soon revive and spring into greater activity than ever before. It must be so from the nature of things. Even now the depression at the East is greater than it is here, and every well-informed person knows that it is far easier to obtain the means of living on the Pacific coast than to obtain them anywhere on the Atlantic side.

"A California paper says it "could name a number of farmers who raise their cabbage and potatoes in the grocery store, and buy Chicago butter and continually talk about the hard times." And no doubt if it had said that these same persons are accustomed with one voice to ascribe the "hard-times" they were complaining of to "Radical legislation," it would have told still more of the truth. Undoubtedly it was men of this same class who sailed on the steamer for the East, as the Albany paper relates, and if they had all gone California would be so much the better off. A few of the same sort could be well enough spared from Oregon. California, certainly, will never regret the loss of these fugitives from labor.

Our "Iron Bound" Constitution.

Of late years some of our Oregon people who are actuated by a laudable enthusiasm in regard to railroads and other great internal improvements have been a little restive under the inhibitions of our Constitution which put it out of the power of the State, or of any city or county, to aid or lend its credit to such enterprises Some have been disposed to think this restriction very much in the way of the development of the State and a bar to its ultimate prosperity. But if we take the experience of some other communities for anything, we may, on reflection, be disposed to think that these restrictive clauses of our State Constitution are not altogether bad, and that while they may delay for a time the prosecution of some important enterprises, they are, on the other hand, serving to carry us safely over a critical period in our history and preventing us from becoming at the very outset of our career involved inextricably in debt. We notice that in the Illinois constitutional convention, now in session, there is pending a proposition to place in the Constitution a prohibition upon both the Legislature and municipalities against the creation of debts for any but corporate purposes, and then only to a very limited amount. To illustrate the necessity of such a provision, a member spoke of a city, once the leading city in the State, now virtually in jail for debts contracted with the best of intentions but with unsound judgment The men who voted the debt had no property to be taxed; when the tax gatherer came, those who had capital moved it away to avoid him, and the city now cannot pay, and its financial distress is repelling the business which might go there, and destroying what little is left. People in other parts of the State are reported as passing through similar trials, and men have toiled their lives away in vain efforts to prevent their farms, their cattle, and their personal property being taken by the holder of the railway bonds so improvidently voted. ' There are towns in this State now,' says the Chicago Tribune, "which have voted railroad debts amounting to 50 per cent of the assessed value of all the real and personal property therein When the day of taxation comes, capital will be moved out of those towns to some other place not thus overwhelmed in debt, farms will be for sale for the accrued taxes, and towns and villages will be sunk in a financial desolation from which there will be no redemption Repudiation will not restore values to property mortgaged to its full value, unable to meet its current demands Men will not live in such towns or counties to labor for bondholders, and deserted villages, abandoned towns, and lands no longer cultivated will repeat the story of the curse and blight of an unrestricted power to borrow money." This history of the experience of others naturally starts the question whether our iron bound Constitution has not been our protection, after all It also suggests the inquiry whether it is quite the thing to curse the bridge that carries us safely over

Inconsistency of the Chief Justice - The Legal Tender Decision

It is generally admitted by those who have studied and commented on the recent legal tender decision that the law of the case is to be found in the dissenting opinion rather than in the decision of the Court The action of the Chief Justice in the case is made the subject of severe animadversion, in that he has laid down as a Judge a totally different doctrine from which he announced and argued for as a Secretary In his recent opinion he makes a long argument to prove that although Congress had the right to issue paper money, as bills of credit, to carry on the war the legal tender clause was superfluous Yet in 1863, while he was Secretary of the Treasury he had said "In former reports the Secretary has stated his convictions and the grounds of them respecting the necessity and utility of putting a large part of the debt in the form of United States notes, without interest, and, adapted to circulation as money These convictions remain unchanged, and seem now to be shared by the people It is a gratification to know that a tribunal so distinguished by the learning and virtues of its members as the Supreme Court of the State of New York has given the sanction of its judgment to the constitutionality and validity of the law" The retroactive as well as the prospective principle of the legal tender act was adopted by Congress at the solicitation of Secretary Chase, and his gross inconsistency in practically pronouncing against the constitutionality of both subjects him to pungent criticism. The New York Times, in its money article, thus handles the case

The conviction that the Opinion of Chief Justice Chase, will not stand as the final decision of the Court, is strengthened by the profound consideration that such decision strikes directly at the power of this great Government to carry on another successful war against insurrection or rebellion or the heresy of State secession, should the trial ever come again, as come it may at any future time And it may be assumed for granted that the party now in control of the Government, with President Grant at the head, will not suffer this blow to pass unregarded The vacancies on the Supreme Bench will soon be filled, and ably filled, and as every case appealed to the Court on the point in question has its peculiar side issues, differing widely, perhaps, from the Kentucky case now determined, abundant opportunity will no doubt be [illegible] for a [illegible] of the p A Opinion by the full Bench.

But assuming that this Opinion is to bear directly upon all outstanding original contracts, created before the 25th February, 1862, most of them necessarily the contracts of corporations rather than of individuals, or if of individuals, in the shape of old bonds and mortgages upon which the interest has accrued since the act of that date and been paid in greenbacks, there is every prospect that a score or more of questions of equity or points of legal right will arise either to prolong litigation or to induce mutual compromise bet[illegible] debtor and creditor. If the Opinion of Chief Justice Chase is made the final decision of the Court as affecting all original contracts or railway and other mortgages before the Legal Tender Act, the incidental, but important question still comes up as to whether or not the interest or coupons on such mortgages since falling due are not debts accruing within the meaning of the Act, to be satisfied in Greenbacks in place of Gold or Silver; so that while the principal of the Bonds, when due, is required to be paid in Coin, the Coupons attached thereto may be settled as other current debts created between debtor and creditor, and earned by the latter since the Act This suggestion may possibly imply a legal fallacy, but there is so much in the Opinion under notice that is thoroughly inconsistent with the letter and spirit of the Legal Tender Act, and its quiet operation upon debts past as well as debts since the Act for eight years past, that it is scarcely too much to expect that issues equally novel and inconsistent are likely to be raised on the other side as litigation progresses. To the principal of Railway Mortgages made before the Act of 1862, and not renewed or tacitly extended since, the Opinion of the Court, if not reversed before such mortgages fall due, will undoubtedly apply; but purchasers of such mortgages, under temptation of this Opinion, had as well bear in mind the contingency of reversal as well as the delays of litigation.

Republican County Convention.

We publish to-day the call of the Republican County Committee for the holding of primary meetings to select delegates to a County Convention, which in its turn will appoint delegates to the State Convention, to meet here on the 7th April. This is the first movement of a campaign which, if conducted by Republicans with vigor, judgment and mutual concession, will surely result in a complete triumph. That this county is surely Republican is attested by the result in the Presidential election and again in the city election last June We have only to proceed with discretion and earnestness, to win a victory in Multnomah county, and we believe also in the State at large The outlook is auspicious, and work will win

Editorial Notes.

In the table exhibiting the taxable property of Oregon published in our columns yesterday, the assessed value of property in Multnomah county for 1868 was stated at $6,436,050. It should have been put at $5,436,050

We hear that all the leaders of the bolters' movement in Washington Territory, Dennison, Howe, Wilson, et al, passed through this city yesterday on their way to Walla Walla to confer with the Democracy about political matters No doubt they will all be working stoutly in the Democratic harness during the coming campaign

Under the next apportionment for members of Congress, New England is likely to lose six Representatives, New York four, and Pennsylvania three. Even Ohio, it is thought, will lose one, and the gain will fall mainly upon the upper Mississippi States The only way by which the Eastern and Middle States could retain their present number of Representatives would be by an increase of the whole number of members In any event their power in Congress will be relatively diminished

It is understood that the Marion county delegation in the Legislature at the next session will push with urgency a bill to provide for the erection of a State Capitol at Salem, so that the work may be commenced at farthest by 1871 Marion county is urgent about this matter because she wants to make it impossible to remove the capital from Salem The question cannot be re-opened for about a dozen years, and in the meantime the Salem people hope to establish the Capital permanently at their city

Ex Governor Moore of Washington Territory died suddenly on Sunday at Seattle He fought gallantly as a soldier in the war came to the Territory as Governor, which office he filled with credit, gained a high place in the favor of all who knew him both there and in Oregon, and was in all respects an estimable gentleman Last year he was a candidate for Congress, but was unsuccessful He was about forty five years of age Ever since the war he had been suffering from wounds received in battle and which finally caused his death

We collect now only about half as much internal tax as we did four years ago The collections for 1866 were $311 000,000 In 1867, taxes on a variety of articles and occupations were discontinued, and in 1868 the receipts fell to $25,000,000 Further reductions have since been made in taxation, and in 18[illegible] the amount collected decreased to $1[illegible]0,000,000 Almost half this sum was derived from spirits and tobacco, the taxes on which now yield a larger revenue than ever before Further reductions of the tax on many articles are now proposed and no doubt will be made

An interview is reported between President Grant and Senator Johnston of Virginia in the course of which the President said "Virginia will do well if she keeps on as she has begun but she must not slide back like Georgia and Louisiana Her natural resources are great and they will be developed if a liberal form of government is maintained Look at some of the Eastern States and portions of Pennsylvania where every river and creek is made use of for manufacturing purposes Virginia can do likewise if she tries, if her people forget all about chivalry and go to work" Such sensible talk as this is worth whole columns of fustian We hope the men who have charge of the new State will carry out the counsels of the President This is the kind of reconstruction we have urged and desire to see tried

A prize fight took place at Corvallis last week, between T. Raney and James Lamb. The wager was a mug of lager The parties before beginning the fight were considerably "elevated" but the Gazette doesn t consider the scene elevating

A letter from Yaquina says "I look for lively times on the Bay the coming summer The completion of our new road to the sea side, the building of a schooner, and fair prospects of a Light House at the entrance, have a tendency to encourage the people here"

The Corvallis Gazette says As two little boys —sons of Messrs Wyatt and Brownson—were out grouse hunting, a few days since, near Philomath, some wild animal, supposed to be a panther, sprang from the branch of an oak tree at Mr Wyatt's little son The little fellow, with great presence of mind, dodged out of the way, and instead of running and screaming, as most boys would have done, under like circumstances, he stood his ground and eyed his antagonist and called for his companion. Before he could reach him the animal took to the brush. Presence of mind and nerve, no doubt, saved the little fellow's life.

The Olympia Transcript is really frightened about the prospects of the Northern Pacific Railroad terminating on the Columbia river It says "If the road terminates upon the upper Columbia, then its western extension to the ocean is sure to be by the way of the river. The Oregon Steam Navigation Company with its portages, rolling stock, and steamships, will merge itself into the Northern Railroad company and will make the thoroughfare from the western terminus of the railroad to the ocean. Of course Portland will be made the great commercial centre of this part of the Pacific coast. This is now the grand Oregon coup de etat."

The ceiling is also beautifully ornament[illegible] with scroll work in plaster of paris The fur[illegible] [illegible] rich and elegant patterns and in all respec[illegible] is [illegible] superior to any hall on the coa[illegible] [illegible] The tapestry over the chairs of the officers is [illegible] fine quality and is well arranged having be[illegible] hung by an experienced workman recent[illegible] from California and now in the employ [illegible] Messrs Hich[illegible] & Co of this city The chairs [illegible] the several officers manufactured by Richter [illegible] are of black walnut and ornamen[illegible] [illegible] with appropriate emblems well known in [illegible] Fellowship The superb and rich carpeting, [illegible] well as the walnut settees with green plush [illegible] were furnished by the house of Em[illegible] [illegible] & Co and add much to the elega[illegible] appearance of the hall Chandeliers of the m[illegible] tasteful pattern put up by E Milwain, will affo[illegible] abundant light and increase the attractiveness [illegible] the room We must also mention the beauti[illegible] workmanship displayed by Mr. Ballard, w[illegible] made the desks stands, etc These are certain[illegible] as fine specimens of cabinet work as have e[illegible] been gotten up in the State

The dedication of this Hall to day will be [illegible] occasion of great interest to all friends of [illegible] large and flourishing order and long after th[illegible] whose enterprise have reared it are called to [illegible] Grand Encampment above and their brothe[illegible] have performed the last sad rites around th[illegible] tombs this splendid edifice will stand a monume[illegible] of the energy of the order in Portland and spe[illegible] to the coming years of their cherished cardi[illegible] principles Friendship, Love and Truth.

Scientific Lecture —A large and intellige[illegible] audience was present at Philharmonic Hall [illegible] evening to hear Rev Mr. Condon, of the Dall[illegible] "How Oregon was Made," and we feel confide[illegible] in expressing the opinion that all were entertain[illegible] and instructed by the lecture. The speaker [illegible] gan by giving some of the outlines of the geolo[illegible] nal formation of the earth, the probable length [illegible] time embraced in the different geological period[illegible] and the scientific indications which determi[illegible] these periods From this basis he [illegible] to tell how the valleys of this country were on[illegible] lake beds, or the bottoms of great inland se[illegible] from which the waters were drained off in t[illegible] constant change going on in the physical worl[illegible] Either by some terrible convulsion of nature or [illegible] the unceasing action of the elements, the vast i[illegible] land seas once extending from the Coast Ran[illegible] of mountains to the Cascades and fro[illegible] the Cascades eastward, found an outl[illegible] to the Pacific ocean He illustrat[illegible] his lecture with maps and diagrams, and demo[illegible] strated his theory very clearly by exhibiting [illegible] merous fossils gathered from different parts [illegible] our country Those who failed to attend [illegible] an occasion of rare interest and one which w[illegible] likely not be afforded again soon, unless Mr. Co[illegible] don can be induced to repeat his lecture, whic[illegible] we would like to have him do.

Weather Record.—From the register of me[illegible] orological observations, kept by Mr. L. W. G[illegible] lliand at the Library rooms in this city, we com[illegible] pile the following weather record for the mon[illegible] of February The average temperature for t[illegible] month was 42¼°, the lowest point reached by t[illegible] mercury during the month was on the 16th a[illegible] 28th, at 7 A M, the temperature being 32[illegible] the highest, 58°, on the 22d, at 2 P. M. T[illegible] 22d was the warmest day of the month, the me[illegible] cury averaging 49°. The coldest days we[illegible] 27th and 28th, the mean temperature indicat[illegible] by the thermometer being 36° on each day. The[illegible] were ten days without rain, though throughout t[illegible] whole month there were some clouds during so[illegible] parts of the day. The total rain fall for t[illegible] month was 4 30 inches, being .53 less than [illegible] January The greatest amount of rain falling [illegible] one day was on the 26th, .7 of an inch T[illegible] strongest wind also prevailed on the 28th, t[illegible] force being 25 miles per hour.

The observations taken f[illegible] the bar[illegible] also registered by Mr. Gilliland since the 7[illegible] the observed heights noted on the instrume[illegible] ranging from 29 30 to 30 38. Last night t[illegible] barometer was down to 29 65 at 9 o'clock T[illegible] record is kept with much accuracy and will [illegible] ford to persons abroad a truthful idea of [illegible] climate of Oregon

Real Estate —The records of Multnom[illegible] county show the transactions in real estate, [illegible] the county during the month closing yesterday [illegible] to have been as follows Whole number of de[illegible] filed for record, 75 aggregate consideratio[illegible] $5[illegible]36 being 14 deeds and $1,390 more th[illegible] during the preceding month The whole numb[illegible] of mortgages recorded in February, was 27, to [illegible] cure the aggregate amount of $33,896, being [illegible] mortgages and $6 624 less than in January [illegible] greatest portion of the land sold lies within [illegible] city and these figures certainly indicate a v[illegible] favorable condition of the real estate market [illegible] Portland considering the general dullness p[illegible] vailing in business affairs during the time un[illegible] view In looking over the record, we find t[illegible] many of the transfers embrace lots in the subu[illegible] of Portland and in East Portland, which [illegible] probably purchased by those who intend to m[illegible] homes on the property bought From the char[illegible] ter of the purchases we judge that but little [illegible] has changed hands in the way of speculation

CITY.

The Odd Fellows New Hall.—We have noticed heretofore on more than one occasion the large and splendid temple erected by the association of Odd Fellows in this city and a description of the main building is not our purpose this morning but we cannot refrain from expressing our high appreciation of the really elegant manner in which the Lodge room has been finished and furnished. In fact we were surprised at its magnificence when we entered it yesterday not having been in it before The ante chambers and other side rooms are furnished in a very tasty style, with desks and wardrobes of superior workmanship and conveniently arranged The main Lodge room is 65 feet in length by 40 in width and arched and paneled ceiling 21 feet high in the center This ceiling is also beautifully ornamented with scroll work in plaster of paris The furniture is of rich and elegant patterns and in all respects equal if not superior to any hall on the coast. The tapestry over the chairs of the officers is of fine quality and is well arranged having been hung by an experienced workman recently from California and now in the employ of Messrs Richter & Co of this city The chairs of the several officers manufactured by Richter & Co., are all of black walnut and ornamented with appropriate emblems well known in Odd Fellowship The superb and rich carpeting as well as the walnut settees with green plush finishing, were furnished by the house of Emil Lowenstein & Co and add much to the elegant appearance of the hall Chandeliers of the most tasteful pattern put up by E Milwain will afford abundant light and increase the attractiveness of the room We must also mention the beautiful workmanship displayed by Mr Ballard who made the desks stands, etc These are certainly as fine specimens of cabinet work as have ever been gotten up in the State

The dedication of this Hall to day will be an occasion of great interest to all friends of this large and flourishing order and long after those whose enterprise have reared it are called to the Grand Encampment above and their brothers have performed the last sad rites around their tombs, this splendid edifice will stand a monument of the energy of the order in Portland and speak to the coming years of their cherished cardinal principles, Friendship, Love and Truth

Scientific Lecture.—A large and intelligent audience was present at Philharmonic Hall last evening to hear Rev Mr Condon, of the Dalles, tell "How Oregon was Made," and we feel confident in expressing the opinion that all were entertained and instructed by the lecture. The speaker began by giving some of the outlines of the geological formation of the earth, the probable length of time embraced in the different geological periods and the scientific indications which determine these periods. From this basis he came to tell how the valleys of this country were once lake beds, or the bottoms of great inland seas from which the waters were drained off in the greatest change going on in the physical world [illegible] by some terrible convulsion of nature or by the [illegible] action of the elements, the vast inland sea, once extending from the Coast Range of mountains to the Cascades and from the Cascades eastward, found an outlet to the Pacific ocean He illustrated his views with maps and diagrams, and demonstrated his theory very clearly by exhibiting numerous fossils gathered from different parts of the State. Those who failed to attend missed an occasion of rare interest and one which will likely not be afforded again soon, unless Mr Condon can be induced to repeat his lecture, which we should like to have him do.

Weather Record.—From the register of meteorological observations, kept by Mr L W Gilliland at the Library rooms in this city we compile the following weather record for the month of February. The average temperature for the month was 42½°, the lowest point reached by the [illegible] during the month was on the 16th and 17th, at 7 A. M , the temperature being 32°; the highest, 58°, on the 22d, at 2 P M. The 22d was the warmest day of the month, the mercury averaging 49°. The coldest days were the 17th and 28th, the mean temperature indicated by the thermometer being 36° on each day There were ten days without rain, though throughout the whole month there were some clouds during some parts of the day. The total rain fall for the month was 4.30 inches, being 53 less than in January. The greatest amount of rain falling in one day was on the 20th, 7 of an inch The strongest wind also prevailed on the 26th, the force being 35 miles per hour.

The observations taken from the barometer are also registered by Mr. Gilliland since the 7th, the observed heights noted on the instrument ranging from 29 30 to 30 38. Last night the barometer was down to 29,65 at 9 o'clock The record is kept with much accuracy and will afford to persons abroad a truthful idea of the climate of Oregon.

Roll of Honor.—The following names are on the roll of honor for the North Public School in this city:

Grammar Department—Annie Bounds, Martha Tasker, Mary DeLin, Nancy Slaughterback, Helen Van Cleve, Sarah Sparks, Lydia Humphrey, Lizzie Taylor, Hattie Hutchinson, Dora McGuire, Laura Camp, Martha Slaughterback E G Ambrough, F. Owen, W Knott, F Barnes A McKeen, W. Becannan, J Burke, B B Delash [illegible], H. Hamilton, E Stewart.

Intermediate Department—Juletta Landrille, Alice Carley, Sylva Fairhorst, Mary Bequette Malinda Graham Catha Stewart, Georgia Greaves Sadie Knott, Alice Potter Lottie Sherlock, W Downing, J Malarky, L Van Cleve, Nathan Appel, F. Halery, R Morse, H Wittinburg, W [illegible], A. Levy, C Fisher

First Primary Department—Mary Martin, [illegible] Hamilton, Lizzie Flynn, Mary Tucker, Alice Gove, Mary Kreiger, Sophie Sherlock F [illegible] Thurmond, Octavie McCamie, Felicia Hallan, Nora Cortley, Annie Carroll, Annie Dodge, Philomene Gratton, Ida Bolter, Rosa Warren, Eliza Bills, E Handley, E King, E. Tracy, E. Winnie, C Bull, W Harvey, J. Hogan, J. Harrington, J O Hara, E Vollum W Clarke A. Dueas, J. Neill, D Malarky, F O Conner F Greene and P. Taylor

Real Estate.—The records of Multnomah county, show the transactions in real estate in the county, during the month closing yesterday, to have been as follows Whole number of deeds filed for record, 75, aggregate consideration, $57,520, being 14 deeds and $1 390 more than during the preceding month The whole number of mortgages recorded in February, was 27, to secure the aggregate amount of $33 896, being 5 mortgages and $6,624 less than in January The greatest portion of the land sold lies within the city, and these figures certainly indicate a very favorable condition of the real estate market in Portland, considering the general dullness prevailing in business affairs during the time under view. In looking over the record, we find that many of the transfers embrace lots in the suburbs of Portland and in East Portland which are probably purchased by those who intend to make homes on the property bought From the character of the purchases we judge that but little land has changed hands in the way of speculation

Real Estate.—Under this head we call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Stitzel & Upton Real Estate Brokers cor of Front and Washington streets They advertise for sale a large amount of city property and farming lands, located in Multnomah county and adjoining counties These gentlemen, during the past year, have taken great pains to make their house known not only in the State but throughout the Eastern States, by advertising in Eastern papers and distributing agricultural reports and other statistics of Oregon and are now in receipt of numerous letters from parties that are intending to emigrate to Oregon the coming spring and summer One company of twenty five families design sending an agent to make a selection of lands, in a few weeks The best city maps also a large selection of official maps and public surveys, are at their office open to public inspection.

The Gregories.—This troupe was well patronized last night and their exhibition gave entire satisfaction to all present. Their entertainments are certainly astonishing in many respects The trained animals the unparallelled gymnastic feats the exceedingly amusing pantomime acting and the singing all combined place this rather ahead of anything in the show line ever put on the stage before Much they do seems really wonderful and we much doubt if any more accomplished artists than the members of this troupe can be found in the United States They give another exhibition this evening and a matinee to morrow afternoon

Tickets for the Ball.—We are requested to state for the information of all who wish to attend the Odd Fellows ball to night that tickets must be obtained of one of the Committee of Arrangements to day, as no tickets will be sold at the door

U S District Court—Deady J.—The proceedings in this Court yesterday were as follows:

Home Made Ice.—Last night Mr Thomas Moffett laid on our table a lump of clear ice some three inches thick and very solid which he manufactured in this city during the past winter by pouring a little water into an empty barrel and allowing it to freeze then pouring in a little more water and allowing further congelation to take place In this simple way he obtained about 50 or 60 tons of good ice He has a good thing

The Asylum.—The number of patients in the Asylum at East Portland on the 1st of December last, was 119 of whom 9 were males and 35 females Since then 11 have been admitted and 9 have been discharged died or escaped The number now in the Asylum is therefore 111 of whom 83 are males and 31 females We are indebted to Dr Giltner Visiting Physician, for these figures

At Work.—We observed a large number of hands at work yesterday making excavations for the East Side Railroad depot in East Portland The point selected is at the upper end of the bluff nearly opposite the gas works From the preparations now being made for the prosecution of work on the road, it will very likely be completed to Salem before the first of September

A Failure.—One of the denizens of the Court of Death tried to bribe the "grim monster" to take her off night before last by swallowing strychnine but she was so well filled with bad whisky that the other poison would not take A physician was called who brought her out all right after she had suffered some terrible convulsions

Arrived.—The California from Victoria and the Montana from San Francisco arrived at this city yesterday, the former at 1 A M and the latter at 9 P M

Will Convene.—The United States Circuit Court Hon M P Deady Judge will meet at ten o'clock this morning, pursuant to adjournment

Notice.—The Ladies Relief Society will meet in the basement of the Presbyterian Church to-day (Tuesday) at 2½ o clock

Railroad Matters are very likely to be lively this spring The East Side Company will engage a large force of men to complete their road to Albany and the West Side Company will very probably build a portion of their road in order to obtain a land grant to facilitate the building of their line to McMinnville Kohn & Fishel are keeping up with railroad times Their stock of spring goods coming across the continent by rail will be the largest and finest stock of Clothing ever imported to this State. Their stock in store now is offered very low to make room for large arrivals They are manufacturing the neatest Boys Suits and always have on hand a large stock of the same which are offered at lowest figures

The Living Machine.

Injure the main spring of a watch and every portion of the works becomes disordered The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer It influences the action of the other organs and controls to a certain extent the whole living machine The comparison may be carried further for as the weakness or other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece so also is the weakness or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid The complexion is sallow or faded the eyes are deficient in luster and intelligence and there is a worn anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body and to sustain and renew all its parts is not performing its duty It requires renovating and regulating and to accomplish this end Hostetter s Stomach Bitters may be truly said to be the one thing needful The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopoeia have been exhausted without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint a course of this wholesome and palatable yet powerful stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness regulating and re-invigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend

WHOLESALE ANNEXATION SCHEME—[illegible] TO MAKE CINCINNATI OVER [illegible] TWO [illegible] MILES.—A bill is about to be brought in the Legislature to do away with the [illegible] ing as to Wards, [illegible] houses, [illegible] ses gas and water between the city and the various strips of territory [illegible] and sought after for annexation, and to sweep [illegible] the one great [illegible] stroke of legislation territory enough to make our city one of forty two square miles fronting ten miles on the Ohio river extending from four to five miles north and giving us an additional population of [illegible] souls. The city would then be bounded as follows: Commencing at the north side of the Ohio river and the east side of the Little Miami, at its mouth; thence along the east line of the Miami (so as to control the bridges) in a course a little east of north to the south line of section 15 of Columbia township. Thence, west, on the line of said section 15, to the southeast corner of section [illegible] of Columbia township. Thence north on the east lines of sections 21 and 22, to the [illegible] east corner of section 22. Thence along the north line of sections 22, 28 and 34 of Columbia township, and sections [illegible] and 30 of Millcreek township to the dividing line between Green and Millcreek townships. Thence south, along the dividing line between Green and Millcreek townships, and [illegible] and Storrs townships, to the Ohio river; thence along the Ohio river to the place of beginning.

In other words, there would be embraced in the city limits all of Storrs and Spencer townships, a fifth of Columbia, and two thirds of Millcreek townships, including the villages of Mount Auburn, Clifton, Avondale, Walnut Hills, Fairmount, Corryville, Cumminsville, [illegible] Place, Sedamsville, Camp Washington, Pendleton, Linwood (all the latter on the east,) and all of Spring Grove Cemetery to the north.

Should this bill pass, it will greatly facilitate the annexation business, besides relieving us of all the bother of small claims of half a dozen little villages that insist on their own ideas of what ought to be conceded to them. We would then be able to carry out the provisions of the city charter, which stipulates that the wards shall be as nearly equal as possible, whereas there are now 3,509 votes in the Eighth Ward to only 400 in the Twentieth.—Cincinnati Commercial, Feb 9

THE FEMALE BROKERS OF WALL STREET—THEIR OPENING DAY—WHO THEY ARE.—Wall, Broad and New streets have another sensation and this time one in which the feeling is unanimous and opinions are not divided. Two women, named respectively Mrs Tennessee Claflin and Mrs. Woodhull, have leased the office No 44 Broad street, formerly occupied by Gray, who lately swindled various parties in the street out of $300,000, and have established themselves in business as stock brokers. The scene at their office yesterday beggars description. The place was thronged from early morning until late at night by a crowd of curiosity hunters, who gazed at the females and besieged them with questions. The older and more respectable dealers of the street remained at their offices, discussing the advent of the female financiers in the street, and there was a strong popular feeling against the persons, not so much because they were women about to embark in the business of stock brokerage, as because of their antecedents.

About a year ago, at No. 17 Great Jones street, the parties who compose the stock brokerage firm of Woodhull, Claflin & Co were magnetic physicians and clairvoyants. They charged $25 in advance for their services, advertised largely, and guaranteed wonderful cures. For a time business went on swimmingly. But at last a turn came in the tide. The clairvoyant powers becoming exhausted or discovered to be a humbug, they took another tack and have anchored their craft in Broad street. At the best, such is the strong popular feeling against them that it will be difficult for them to transact any business whatever with other parties. There seems to be something ominous in the rental of the rooms once occupied by Gray, and whatever transactions they may have will be pretty sharply watched. It is said that Mrs Claflin has figured notoriously in the West as a medium and clairvoyant. It was reported that Commodore Vanderbilt was assisting them to carry on the business, but this assertion the Commodore's friends stoutly deny.

The scenes of yesterday are to say the least disgraceful in the extreme. Insulting remarks and shameful allusions were carried to the ears of the women (who pretended to be very busy in the transaction of their business) by the throng that curiously examined everything in the office, and who sang and whistled after the fashion of the Bowery pit. A short, speedy winding up of the firm of Woodhull Claflin & Co is predicted.—N Y Times, Feb 6

THE DAVENPORTS REFUSE A CHALLENGE.—We cut the subjoined from the San Francisco Call of the 13th inst.

Last evening the seance of the Davenport Brothers was but poorly attended, which probably was owing to the expose that was made yesterday. At the conclusion of the cabinet trick, Professor Fay advanced to the front of the stage, spoke rather severely of the papers which had published the "manner in which they performed their tricks," and said that the published reports were all false. He then stated that if there was any person in this city, who could perform the cabinet trick under the same conditions and as rapidly as the Brothers, he would give that person the sum of five thousand dollars. As soon as he had finished a young man, genteelly dressed, arose and said that he would accept the offer, and would go through the performance at once. He was invited to go on the stage and he at once prepared to go into the cabinet. He asked that the Committee which tied the Brothers be allowed to tie him, but the Brothers and Prof Fay objected, saying that they must tie him themselves. The majority of the audience sprung to their feet, and for nearly ten minutes afterward all was confusion, the audience siding with the stranger and many voices crying out "Give the stranger a fair show"—"let the Committee that tied you tie him"—"don't try to bluff." After some difficulty, and cries of "order, order," quiet was obtained, and the young man gave his name as Carl Busco, announced himself ready to bet one thousand dollars that he could perform the tricks if the Committee or any other committee selected from the audience were allowed to tie him. "We will not agree to that," responded William Davenport, "we will tie you ourselves." "I will put up one hundred dollars as a forfeit," said Busco as he placed the money in the hands of ex-Chief of Police M J Burke, "to show that I am in earnest, but I will not allow you to tie me, for you could tie me so that I could not loosen myself as well, as I could tie you in the same manner." Many words passed and it became evident that the Brothers had no desire to allow their tricks to be exposed in public, so Mr. Busco left the stage and the Hall.

The Pella, Iowal Blade says that [illegible] Year's Day a young man [illegible] dollar and a half in a marriage license [illegible] days since the official who gave him the [illegible] mit to marry received from the young man the following note: "Sir—I will send you the license that you gave me to get married with, and show that I was not married, for the reason because the girl, whose name is on the paper, went back on me because she could get a other feller [illegible] name — — send them so that you can give it a license for her. but be sure and get your fee for so doing. No more at present, but believe me, your most heart-broken, — —"

Horrible Diseases.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal [illegible] solitary [illegible] by the youth [illegible] producing [illegible] of old age [illegible] local measures viz. Sallow countenance [illegible] under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, [illegible] consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter and have a cure. He treats the new and scientific mode. [illegible] will never fail of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay [illegible] relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars [illegible] registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who [illegible] unwary [illegible] found in the [illegible] San Francisco and they [illegible] lazy to work at their trades [illegible] makers, newspaper carriers, [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory [illegible] will not find the Medical Institutes [illegible] but you will find their former occupation [illegible] Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid them, at least is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets. For as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS &c, as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness

E B MOORE — NATHANIEL BELL,
A J WALLACE — G R WARD
Mrs MONTGOMERY — JOHN M HOLLOWAY,
W D PORTER — ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give it a fair trial on the NO CURE NO PAY AND NO INJURY plan
